

ANGELS OF THE BATTLEFIELD: CLARA BARTON'S AMERICAN RED CROSS, 1881

The United States just faced the deadliest war on its own soil and is now trying to rebuild as a nation unified against slavery. Death and disease have shaken much of the country, and racist laws and policies still pervade much of the South. Enter Clara Barton, a self-taught nurse traveling the country giving lectures about her experiences during the war. Her celebrity and genuine passion for helping those in need have allowed her to found a brand new organization: The American Red Cross. As the newest charter of the International Committee of the Red Cross, there is much international pressure for you to succeed. The future of emergency assistance and public service in the United States is in your hands, and you will need to have a strong impact for President Chester A. Arthur to think you're more than just a bunch of nurses. Pack your bags, grab your supplies, and get ready to save some lives!
