

THE EUROPEAN COUNCIL, 2025

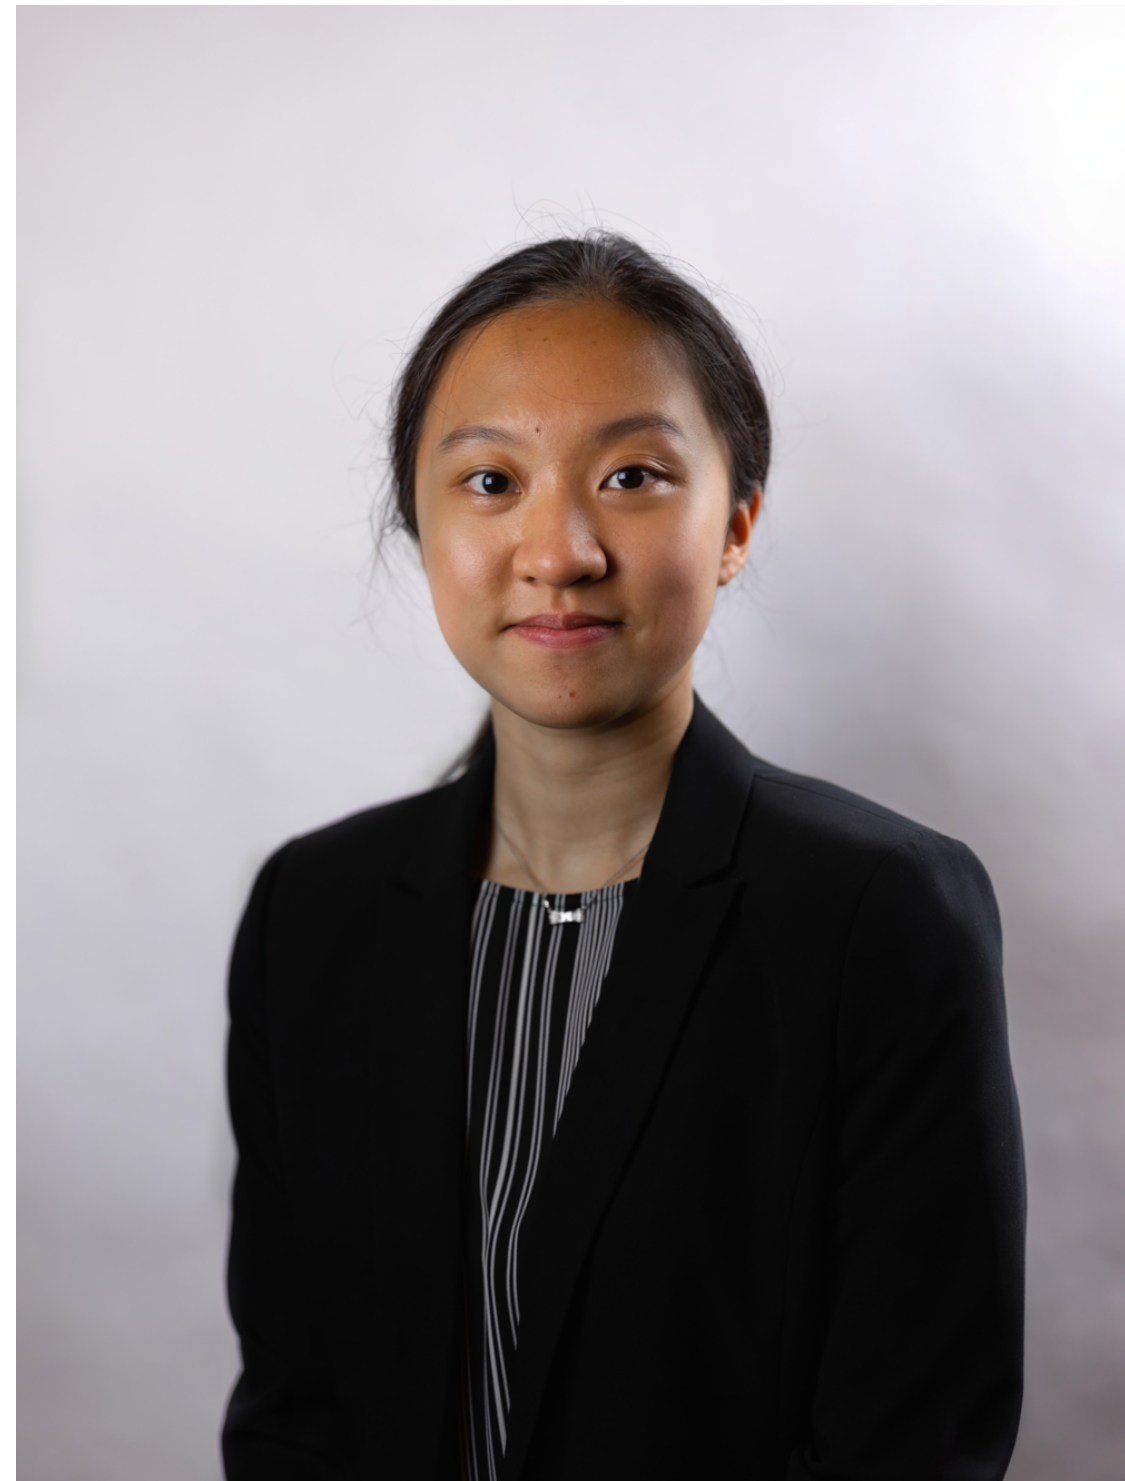

The year is 2025. The Brexit negotiations have finally been settled. However, the EU member states are facing even bigger challenges. The economic system is failing; the integration within the EU is threatened; and their relations with the US, China, and other countries will have to be redefined. As there have been talks of some other countries, such as France, leaving the EU, delegates will have to deal with problems at hand and chart a path for the EU moving forward.

There are no position papers due for this committee.
